Powerful Solutions for Building Knowledge, Cultivating Adaptive Teams, and Delivering Actionable Solutions

Systems Thinking

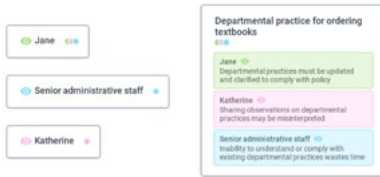

Giving your talent the training, tools and technology to do their best thinking is our specialty. We offer scalable solutions to train your talent, so each individual has a deep understanding of the foundational concepts and simple rules of systems thinking.

Systems Leadership

Thinking drives learning and learning drives your organization. With our resources you can champion change and build an adaptive learning organization that thrives in the marketplace. Evolve your organization through systems leadership.

Systems Mapping

You want everyone on board with the plan. Visual systems maps power discussion and collaboration so every member of your team shares the same understanding of ideas integral to your success. Turn ideas into action with systems mapping.

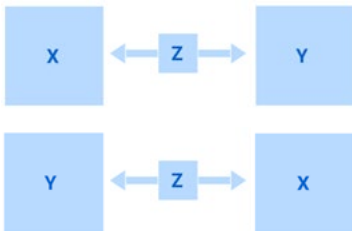

Plectica Software Licenses

Model any system with Plectica mapping software. Backed by the cognitive science that underlies systems thinking, our namesake cloud-based tool progressively wires your brain to think better and faster — transforming how you frame, design, predict, and react to today’s complex and changing environment. Software licenses allow unlimited access to all product features and functionality.

Books

Dig deep into the why and how of systems thinking, systems mapping and systems leadership. Our books — Systems Thinking Made Simple and Flock Not Clock — offer tangible takeaways of systems concepts for immediate implementation in your daily work. Compliment your systems thinking initiative with literature from the leading minds in the field.

Personal Inventory

Research shows that the fastest and surest way to increase success in all domains (i.e., personal and professional, emotional intelligence and analytical ability, critical thinking and problem solving) is to increase metacognition and systems thinking. Engage and motivate your talent to improve the cognitive skills that lead to individual and organizational success. The Systems Thinking & Metacognitive Inventory (STMI) is a window into your thought processes. The personalized report reveals baseline measures of systems thinking and metacognitive skill and ability.

Training and Certification

Develop systems thinkers at every level within your organization through our certification program. We offer White, Yellow, Green, and Black Belt Certifications in Systems Thinking, Systems Mapping, and Systems Leadership. Each level dives deeper into content to advance the scope of your expertise. Develop in-house Certified practitioners and trainers to lead change efforts, guide decision-making, and maximize your team’s potential.

Premium Engagements

We offer premium engagements customized to your audience and objectives. From a company-wide keynote to tailored executive retreats, our talks and live trainings and certification program can motivate a committed minority to press toward organizational change. Talk with us about bespoke keynote addresses, executive training and certification, ongoing webinars, and organizational consulting.
